Laissez les bon temps rouler (let the good times roll!) is more than just a favorite local phrase – it's a rallying cry to embrace and enjoy life to its fullest when you're in Louisiana. As a host, chef, tour guide, local historian and Louisiana native, Chef Amy Sins gives guests the most authentic, unscripted and spontaneous local adventures in food and culture. Everybody's gotta eat in New Orleans—why not combine your meal with a fun and entertaining dining experience?

Chef Amy is a master in the art of cooking and conversation, and spins stories about life in Louisiana like no one else. She weaves classic and modern cooking techniques and ingredients together to bring an important Cajun or Creole dish to life in front of your eyes.
